PARKER'S REMARKABLE "FLOP."

Mr. Charles H. Parker has evidently seen in his political dreams the handwriting on the wall. Conscious that he could not, under any circumstances, win on the flat platform, he has undertaken to face both ways. Knowing that he could not gain the support of honest money Democrats if he stood broadly on his own platform of irredeemable rag money, he found a device by which he could seemingly entertain both soft and hard money principles, and thus delude the Greenbackers, and cheat the Democrats who advocate an unfluctuating and a redeatable paper currency. To perform this political trick, this financial somerset, he sought and obtained the aid of a very fit person—Hon. James R. Doolittle, of Racine. Mr. Doolittle is a sort of a hard money Democrat; but he wanted a pretext on which to support Parker. He wrote to Parker and Parker wrote to him. They put their heads together and agreed upon an admirable plan. Doolittle was to write to Parker suggesting certain financial theories in accord somewhat with the views of Doolittle and other Democrats who could not exactly agree with the extreme greenback doctrine, and Parker in an innocent way was to assent to them and thus stand upon a different platform than that adopted by the Greenback convention at Elkhorn, on the 1st of August. Anything to win, and to dissipate the cloud which darkens his Congressional course, is Mr. Parker's battle cry.

The Greenback platform, our readers will remember, says that the all paper issued by the Government should be a "full legal tender in payments of all debts, public and private, without regard to the material of which it is composed." Mr. Parker has preached this doctrine himself and he has hired his man Stewart to preach it for him, also. Both have denounced coin as a basis of value, and Stewart, who is in the employ of Parker—(both keeping company in canvassing the District) has time after time in his speeches in behalf of Parker, demanded with all the lung force he could command, the total disregard of gold as a standard of value, and Parker inflated with the Greenback craze, assented to it. But what does Parker now say after meeting Doolittle and fixing things for the hard money Democrats? Over his own signature he says, "I am in favor of making and keeping all our paper currency of equal value with gold and silver." His own platform, and Stewart his spokesman, discard any such doctrine. But under the advice of Doolittle Parker still further repudiates the full legal tender quality of all the paper issued by the Government, so prominently set forth in his own platform adopted at Elkhorn, and says in the "fixed up" correspondence with Doolittle:

"The Republican Convention for the First Assembly District will meet at Footville on Friday, the 27th. The Republicans are strong in that District, and should not permit themselves to be defeated after the fashion of last year. A unity of action and a good nomination will elect their candidate."

The monument to the lamented Governor Harvey has been finished, and will soon be put in place over the grave at Forest Hill cemetery, near Madison. It is made of Quincy granite and is very handsome and elaborate considering that it cost only $700, that being the amount appropriated by the last Legislature.

Here is a complete backing down from the position in which he placed himself at Elkhorn. Then he would have all currency a legal tender—now he would not. Then he would have nothing to do with gold as a basis of value—but now, since he has seen Doolittle, he would have gold as a basis of value. Then he would inflate—but as Doolittle suggests that inflation would be a good thing Parker rather believes he would inflate. In short, he would now assent to anything Doolittle might suggest which would enable him to ride both the Greenback mule and the sound money horse. Such political trickery, such shiftless financial theories, and such perfect demagogism, were never before exhibited by any Congressional candidate in this District.

At the suggestion of Doolittle, Parker agrees to another thing, that it would be wise to abolish our present banking system in order that "great good" may be attained, that "great good" being the saving of from 10 millions to 15 millions a year interest. For this reason alone, he would abolish the best banking system the United States ever had. But let us see about that. Suppose the banks were abolished, as Parker desires, the account would stand about this:

Annual gain on saving of interest..... $12,540,000

Annual loss of taxes..... 17,500,000

Net annual loss..... $4,960,000

Now, by suspending the present banking system, and replacing the bank circulation with government notes or certificates, the annual loss to the people would be nearly 5 million dollars. Is that the reason why Parker wants them abolished?

THE ROAD TO VICTORY.

The entire strength of the Republican party should be called out this fall, not only in Rock county where large Republican majorities are usually given, but in every county in the State. Now, as much as any other time in the history of the party, should it utilize its forces, harmonize its views, and work for one common purpose—a good currency and victory. There is not the faintest shadow of an excuse why a Republican should be what is now called a Greenbacker. It be as inconsistent for a Republican in 1878 to turn against his party and run after Greenbackism, as it would have been for him to have abandoned his party in 1860, and entered the slaveholder's movement. Then the party was pledged for freedom, and land for the landless; now the party is pledged for an honest and a safe currency—a currency which will remain the same value over night, a currency which is just as good for the laboring man as for the capitalist; a paper dollar which will circulate in every part of the United States carrying with it the full value of a gold dollar. The party is furthermore pledged to a defense of the public faith and credit, and so far the mission of the Republican party has been successful. Under the last Democratic administration, the credit of the United States stood exceedingly low, abroad, the Government not being able to borrow money for less than 12 per cent; now European capitalists are anxious to get our bonds at 4 per cent. This shows the difference between the two parties in administering the affairs of the Government.

The party should not forget its grand achievements in the past, and it should not forget that there are grand achievements for it still in store. In its day it has been the mightiest and the purest political organization the world over saw.

The history of other countries does not furnish a parallel to it, and it should not be abandoned now.

The upbuilding of all our industries, the protection to agriculture, the advancement of the workingman, the revival of trade, and the welfare of commerce, depends upon the financial policy of the Republican party—which is an honest currency and plenty of it, a restoration of public confidence, and maintaining the public credit. With this policy enforced good times will speedily return,—without it, they never can return.

Parker, in his new platform drawn by Doolittle, says it would not be "wise, just or proper, to disregard the settled and conscientious convictions of those who aim at the same great good." The aim of the Republican party is to make the currency not only as plenty as the demands of business require, but to make it absolutely as good as gold, and yet Parker says because the Republican party entertain these views, it and its financial policy should be overthrown!

A farmer in one of the adjoining towns attended one of Stewart-Parker's Greenback meetings last week, and attentively heard Stewart present the case for Parker. When the harangue was finished, the farmer told his friends that on that kind of doctrine there was no more chance of Parker going to Congress than there was of John Pease's pig climbing up the church steeple and whistling Yankee Doodle!"

The Republican Convention for the First Assembly District will meet at Footville on Friday, the 27th. The Republicans are strong in that District, and should not permit themselves to be defeated after the fashion of last year. A unity of action and a good nomination will elect their candidate.

The monument to the lamented Governor Harvey has been finished, and will soon be put in place over the grave at Forest Hill cemetery, near Madison. Special to the Gazette.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—General Grant and party, who are now in Switzerland, enroute for this city, were banqueted at Zurich for this season. The crop proves to be only about half as heavy as last year, yet what it lacks in volume is made up in price in a great degree, so that our fruit growers are receiving nearly as much money for this year's crop as they did for last. Our apple crop is not as good this season as usual, the season having been unfavorable for the proper growth and development of the fruit. We shall have a good many apples, throughout the city.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 24.—There was a full to-day as compared with the bustle of yesterday's work. The report of deaths shows a decrease, as the Board of Health officially gives the names of but thirty-eight who have died during the twenty-four hours ending at 6 o'clock to-night, thirty-seven being from yellow fever, and of these thirteen colored.

Number of Persons in Employment.

The latest published statements giving the number of adult male persons employed in various occupations in the United States presents the following figures:

Agricultural pursuits ..... 2,471,734

Domestic servants ..... 1,075,734

Ornamental laborers ..... 1,031,666

Manufacturers ..... 1,191,252

Miners ..... 382,124

Total non-professional ..... 11,895,820

Professional men ..... 677,345

There are at all times probably 50,000 to 100,000 persons who are not employed, either having no work to do or refusing to work when work is offered them. That number is probably swelled, at the present time, to 500,000.

THE TWO MURPHIES.

A slight Mistake and How it Came About.

A good story is told of the Irish comedian, Joe Murphy, who is to appear here this week.

It was during the "blue ribbon" excitement of last season, and Joe was journeying to a small town in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. As the train steamed into the depot, it was boarded by half a dozen men, who, after a hurried conference with the conductor, approached the comedian with beaming faces.

"Mr. Murphy, I believe," said the spokesman, man, bat in hand.

"At your service, sir," replied Joe.

"Delighted to meet you, sir. We are the committee appointed to take you in charge," and they fairly dragged the astonished Joe from the car, placed him in a carriage, and they were whirled swiftly away.

"God bless us," thought the exponent of Irish peculiarities. "This is very kind. Never was in this town before. A man's reputation does travel, and that's a fact."

In a short time they reached the hotel, and the committee having placed Joe in the best parlor suite, prepared to depart. "We will call for you after supper, Mr. Murphy," said the spokesman.

"One moment, gentlemen," cried St. Joseph, as he pulled the bell-cord vigorously. "Water, drinks for the p'r'y."

"Drunks!" shrieked the concierge in a chorus. "Mr. Murphy, are you mad?"

"Mad," echoed Joe, "Not a bit of it. Name your beverages, gentlemen."

"Oh, this is terrible backsitting," said one. "Francis Murphy ordering drinks."

"Francis Murphy, repeated the perplexed Joe. "I am Joe Murphy, the comedian."

They saw it all, and roared merrily from the room in search of the temperance apostle, who was even then toiling painfully from the giddy foot, "tiring a huge carpet bag."

Both the Murphys drew large houses that night."

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1878.

CITY AND COUNTY.

BRIEFLETS.

—Keep dry.
—No show for shows.
—The fall of leaves shows fall is here.
—The shade trees are being shorn of their foliage.
—Whooping cough is hoo-pin' it up for the young 'uns.

—The Veterans meet to-morrow night for their semi-annual muster.

—N. F. Griswold, and family, reached this city from Oconto yesterday.

—Mr. A. E. Morse has been confined to his house for a week with illness.

—Some of the school rooms are so crowded that some of the children are unprovided with desks.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Doe, Jr., arrived yesterday from their wedding trip, and are heartily welcomed to Janesville.

—The State Journal of Madison states that Dr. A. H. Davis, who formerly practiced in that city fourteen years is about to open an office in this city.

—Mr. Lantry, the book-publisher of Chicago, who visits Janesville so often, lost his pocket-book containing $70, at Clinton the other day, but an honest host returned the leather and contents to him.

—Mr. H. B. DeLong, and wife, started yesterday morning, for a four weeks trip to New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and other cities in the East. He will make some important tobacco contracts, while absent.

—Mrs. Pat Sheridan, who was nearly scalped by a stone thrown at her by her husband, is rapidly gaining now, and will soon be herself again. The case against Sheridan has been postponed until she is able to appear in court to testify.

—An exchange thus puts a truth which finds corroboration in the experience of every town: "You may talk about the lean and hungry Cassius, but did you ever take a side view of the man who had run a store for ten years without advertising?"

—Judge Conger does not seem to be inclined to let criminals off easy. Yesterday at Jefferson, he sentenced the fellows who robbed Webber at Watertown last spring, giving Ispahoding eight years, James Wendering, alias Kieser, six years, and Rick three years.

—Mr. W. Warren Ashley, the business manager of Ida Livingstone's Troubadours, has received a telegram from her bidding him cancel her engagement in Janesville until after October 14, as she had made a contract to play in Quincy and Hannibal two weeks. They will appear here soon after.

—City Clerk Burgess has received from County Clerk Morgan the book, and necessary papers from the Board of Inspectors of election of the city, and is ready to pass them out. City Attorney McElroy says that no bonds are required from Inspectors or Clerks of Election, the law simply requiring the taking of an oath before receiving any ballots.

—The funeral services of Miss Sarah F. Edwards took place yesterday afternoon, and were conducted by Rev. T. P. Sawin. Appropriate music was furnished by Mrs. H. A. Smith, Miss Fanny Lynn and Messrs. Wingate and Colling. Messrs. Edward Doty, C. C. McLean, J. W. Bunting, William Evenson, Frank Bond and Frank Sherer, served as pall-bearers. The services were very impressive, and were attended by many sympathizing friends.

—The sad news comes that Dr. Hunting died at his home in Lincoln, Illinois, Monday night last, of malarial fever. He was in this city last week having just returned from a trip West, and had decided to open dental rooms in this city, and had in view a portion of Cook's new block as a location. His sickness was therefore of brief duration and the news comes with sad suddenness to his friends here. His wife, who is remembered better among her old Janesville acquaintances, as Miss Eva Husbrok, is a cousin of Mrs. Dr. St. John.

—Two sons of J. E. Scott, who lives near Shirope, had a lively experience on the road the other night as they were driving homeward. It appears that in another wagon were seated four or five young fellows who tried to speed their horses so as to pass Scott's team, and not succeeding one of the crowd pulled out a revolver and fired it. The boys thought they were firing at them, and one pulled a revolver and returned the shot, and followed it up by several other shots fired in the direction of the crowd. The crowd did not follow them up after that. It is thought that none of them were wounded, but all of them badly scared.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 61 degrees above, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon stood at 69 degrees above. A steady fall of rain during the day. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 65 and 82 degrees above.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23d.—The indications for the Northwest and upper lake region—cold, cloudy, and rainy, followed by rising barometer, westerly winds.

DEATH OF CHARLES P. ACHILLES.

The death of Mr. Charles P. Achilles, a prominent lawyer of Rochester, New York, which occurred at that city on the 20th inst., will cause a thrill of sorrow here where the deceased in former years was so well known. He was at one time the law partner of Hon. C. G. Williams, of this city, and married Miss Kate Pratt, sister of A. M. Pratt, also of this city. After a residence of some years in Wisconsin he returned to Rochester, the home of his father, where he held several public offices, and achieved an enviable position in his profession. He was a gentleman of culture, fine physique, and rare intellectual and social qualities. His death will be generally lamented, and his widow will have the sympathy of his and her many friends in Janesville.

A BLOODY BLADE.

A Young Man Stabbed Last Night on the Street.

Full Particulars of the Affray.

Shortly after 8 o'clock last night two young men entered Dr. Sutherland's office, one of them having a knife, wound which he wanted attended to. The Doctor on examining the gash found it to be on the left side, just below the heart, the wound extending into the lung, proving a serious but not necessarily fatal injury, though had it been a few inches further up it would have produced instant death. The young man gave his name as McCormick and his companion's as Welch, but neither of them seemed to be at all communicative and would give no account as to how the wound was received. By the time the Doctor had dressed it the young man was in such a condition that he could not walk, and a carriage was sent for which conveyed him to his home in Monterey, just west of the railroad bridge. He is still confined to his bed and during a portion of this morning was inclined to delirium, but it is thought that with quiet and skillful treatment and nursing he will be able to survive the injury. As nearly as can be ascertained the following are the facts in the case:

About two weeks ago a party of boys, of which McCormick was one, were seated on a bluff from which they threw stones down upon a house occupied by Mrs. Webber and her sons, one of whom, a young man named Albert Webber, came out of the house and drawing a revolver, fired several shots in the direction of the boys, but not hitting any of them. Nothing further grew out of the disturbance until last night when McCormick, who is better known as "Tilly" McCormick, while walking along Center avenue, near Galena street, in company with Jack Welch, met young Webber. They asked him what he meant by shooting at them. Webber said he did it just for fun. McCormick said he had a good notion to "give it to him," and pulled out his coat for a fight. Webber pulled out a pocket-knife to protect himself with. McCormick asked Welch if he had a knife, and on this suggestion Welch pulled out one. After some parleying the boys put up their knives, and then McCormick began to approach Webber again in a threatening manner, the latter retreating until he reached the fence, and as McCormick came nearer, Webber pulled out his knife again and plunged it into McCormick, which ended the row. McCormick and Welch, starting in haste for a doctor.

As yet no arrests have been made, and it is not certain that any will be made unless McCormick's wound should prove more serious than is now anticipated.

The boys engaged in the affair are all about the same age, being about eighteen. McCormick's mother is a widow, and he has been employed in the McLean Manufacturing Company, where Webber is also employed.

LOOK OUT FOR HIM.

The following warning is sounded from the bugle of the Beloit Herald, and comes perhaps just in time, as a man answering the description is said to be making the rounds of this city now:

The people of Beloit have been pestered by a man who has been canvassing the town selling weather-strips for doors and windows. For the benefit of the people of Janesville and Monroe we shall give warning, for we know that he intends to go to one of the above places.

He is a tall, lank looking individual, black mustache, and wears a dark suit of clothes; talks religion (or effect) with a tongue that has no let-up. He played the Austin House for three weeks board, and we give below the letter found in his room this morning:

BELOIT, Sept. 23, 1878.

FRIEND MRS. AUSTIN:—I suppose when Lizzie goes up to my room in the morning and finds it vacated, and comes down and exclaims the lay, "Oh, where is he?" you will be somewhat surprised to think I have gone crazy, or gone off to commit suicide.

But don't get excited, keep cool—keep perfectly cool. Remember, "All is well that ends well," and some of these times you will be surprised to find a little roll of greenbacks come rolling in to settle my little indebtedness for the necessities of human existence, which you so nicely and plentifully set out. Keep perfectly cool. Instead of going to Janesville, I took a notion to go to Monroe, Wis. To tell the truth, Mrs. Austin, I thought I needed the things which I would have to leave to secure you before I got the money to pay you, but keep perfectly cool and you will get it in the sweet bye and bye. Keep cool.

Respectfully yours,
M. EHRIHART.

SPORTING NOTES.

The new Chicago and two of the old nine yesterday played another game with a nine composed of portions of the Indianapolis clubs of this year. The score stood at the end of the eighth inning: Indians 9, Chicago 7.

The Peoria Reds return to-day from their trip, and will disband next Tuesday, contracts expiring then.

Joe Goss and J. J. Dwyer are arranging for a prize fight to take place in December.

Chicago is talking over the prospect of a walking match between Guyon and Schmehl.

The fall meeting of the St. Louis Jockey Club opened successfully yesterday. High-land Queen won in the three minute class. In the 2:19 class Adelaide won, taking the last three of six heats which were trotted. Little Fred stood second and Lucille, third. The fastest heat was the first, won by Little Fred in 2:23.

Special to the Gazette.

Yesterday afternoon's games: Cincinnati 5, Stars 2. Buffalo 8, Manchesters 1. Providence 8, Uticas 4. Albany 4, Boston 1.

MR. SULLIVAN'S FUNERAL.

This afternoon the remains of Michael Sullivan, whose death was announced in yesterday's Gazette, were brought to this city from Jackson, Michigan, for interment, accompanied by the bereaved family and relatives. The funeral services were held in All Souls church, Rev. Mr. Jones officiating. The casket and board were beautifully adorned with flowers, and many sympathizing friends, gathered in the church, and followed the remains to their last resting place.

RAKING POWDER.

so cleanly and elegantly prepared as to make it a lasting hair dressing and toilet luxury.

J. A. TYMES, A PROMINENT CITIZEN, Wilson, N. C., writes: Some ten years ago my wife's hair commenced falling, and got very thin and turned gray; but after using "London Hair Color Restorer," the scalp became healthy, the hair stopped falling, the color was restored, and is now growing beautiful.

As yet no druggist for London Hair Color Restorer. Price, 75 cents a bottle. Six bottles, $4. Main Depot for the U. S. 330 North Sixth St., Philadelphia.

EXCESSIVE HEAT.

And unwholesome diet at this season of the year may speedily carry you to the grave. Parker's Ginger Tonic, by its corrective action on the entire digestive apparatus, will only unfallily cure Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera, Cholera Infantum, Colic, Cramps, Spasms, etc., but will prevent those dangerous disorders from attacking the system. It may save your life, and should always be kept in the house. This pleasant remedy is unequalled for teething children, nursing mothers. Possessing many additional virtues of other valuable roots, it is far superior to Essences of Ginger, without their constipating effects, and while more invigorating than Liquors never intoxicates, nor creates any desire for stimulants. It cures Dyspepsia, and its varied symptoms of Headache, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Wakefulness, Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Liver Disorders, Furred Tongue, Low Spirit, Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pains, enables you to enjoy the fruits and vegetables of the season without fear, and gives comfort after a hearty meal. Buy a $1.00 bottle of your druggist, A. J. Roberts, or a sample bottle at 15 cents, and test its extraordinary merits.
